[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 26.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Miss Gertrude Quimby, the missing Boston heiress, has been found. Despite active search by the police, the young woman has been living with a girl friend in Brooklyn, walking fearlessly about the streets of New York. Miss Quimby emphatically denies that she is "stage-struck." She declares that she ran away from her Back Bay home because conditions there were intolerable, and the stage is the only means she knows of for supporting herself. She said that she is in hiding from her mother and her step-father, H. A. Werner, and will resist all efforts to take her back to Boston.

UNITARIANS SCORE A SENATOR WHO VOTED TO ELECT LORIMER.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BOSTON, May 24.—A proposition to drop the name of United States Senator Duncan U. Fletcher of Florida, from the list of vice-presidents of the Unitarian Association because of his attitude in the Lorimer case last winter, failed at the annual meeting of the association today. The opposition to Senator Fletcher was led by the Rev. John Haynes Holmes, pastor of the Church of the Messiah, New York, and numbered approximately one-third of those present.

The debate began when the Nominating Committee presented its report, in which the Senator's name was placed fourth in a list of eight vice-presidents. Mr. Holmes at once offered a resolution signed by nine New York clergymen and twenty-six of those in and about Boston, declaring that, "in view of the public services attached to the name of Senator Fletcher, we do not regard him as eligible to leadership in that form of Christianity known as Unitarianism, and protest against his nomination as vice-president."

The Rev. A. J. Coleman of Jacksonville, Fla., declared that the resolution was an attempt to fasten a new method of dogmatism on the Unitarians. "Senator Fletcher voted for Lorimer because the evidence against him was not sufficient," said Mr. Coleman. "He was actuated by a high sense of moral and political duty and the people of Florida are proud of his record."

After further debate, a rising vote was taken which was partially counted. President Elliot announcing that the motion to strike Senator Fletcher from the list was lost. About one-third voted for the resolution.

The association then elected its officers, headed by the Rev. Dr. Samuel S. Eliot of Cambridge. The Rev. Mr. Todd of Washington also defended Senator Fletcher as one of its parishioners and resented the resolution as "unwarranted interference with the action of an individual."

Holmes declared that the Unitarian Association could not place any stain on the name of Senator Fletcher which the Senator had not placed there already by his action in the Lorimer case.

"It would be better to wipe out even Unitarian church south of the Mason and Dixon line rather than place a discolored name on our list of officers," shouted Holmes.

"As to Senator Fletcher," said Holmes, "I believe he has failed to measure up to the standard. I believe he was conscientious, but what was the matter with his conscience? We do not want a man on our list for whom we have to apologize."

And All He Gets Out of It Is One Bible and Advice to Marry Widow—He Would Have Got One Faster Card, Too, Had Not Bargain Counter Supply Run Out.

CHICAGO, May 26.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) An unsigned postal card addressed to "Dear Tommy" and referring to the writer as "your loving wife," was produced today by Thomas Foulkes of Danbury, Iowa, as proof of the promise of marriage he said he had obtained from Miss Lorraine Miller, in return for $11,000 he spent in wooing her. The card was introduced as evidence in the trial of the woman and her brother, J. Marion Miller, a Chicago lawyer, accused as swindlers, after Foulkes had identified it as having been written by Miss Miller.

"An old flirt," was the way Miss Miller characterized Foulkes, as she smilingly listened to the reading of letters she wrote to him. Further, she charged, according to her lawyer, Seymour Stedman, that Foulkes was already married at the time he declared he was wooing her. "Chicago is entirely too fast for a man from Danbury," sighed Stedman, who denied the accusations made by the young woman. Here is the Danbury man's account of the most of his courtship: SPENT ON MISS MILLER.

One diamond ring, $100; one lawsuit, $1000; one boarding-house, $800; one chicken ranch, $500; one lot, $1200; furniture, $350; cash loans, $4875; incidentals, $1975. Total, $11,000.

RECEIVED FROM MISS MILLER. One promise to wed; advice to marry a widow, $100; $12. Total, $112.

$2. To love's profit and loss, $10, 597.

"Dear Tommy: I am sending you a ticket, come on, and see your case against Dr. Steward is soon to be heard," was the substance of a message written September 18, 1908, to Foulkes, who was then living in Los Angeles, Cal.

In another letter, following this delicate hint, Miss Miller wrote: "I was going to send you an Easter card, but they were all sold out."

The year-old plaintiff smiled grimly at this: "That's something I almost got," he said.

GETS HIS DOLLAR BACK.

And Across His Face Was Fifteen-Year-Old Message of Despair Written in Alaska.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] CHICAGO, May 26.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) A disappointed $11,000 passer from the ticket window of one of the local theaters disclosed today as strange a romance as ever related by a writer of fiction.

The legal tender, which bore a message of despair written on its face, fell into the owner's hands after fifteen years of wandering through the West and the gold fields of Alaska. The man who had written the message was Roy Denton, a native of New York State, who, fifteen years ago, went West to find his fortune. Had luck followed all his undertakings, and sickness followed, he spent this last dollar for medicine, and in his disheartened condition he wrote on its face:

"This is my last dollar. R. D." "I wouldn't sell this bill for all the money in the world," said Denton, as he walked away from the box-office window.

WITNESS SAID OLE BULL'S WIDOW TOLD OF VISITATIONS.

Malign Influence That Came Into Her Life and to Overcome It Her Health Was Broken—Esoteric Philosophies in Contest of a Will in Maine.

ALFRED (Me.) May 26.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Miss Edith Swannander, a Brooklyn, N. Y., school teacher, testified today in the suit to break Mrs. Ole Bull's will, brought by Mrs. Ole Bull Vaughn, her daughter, that she had seen the spirit of her mother, who conducts a sanatorium in Brooklyn. Mrs. Bull passed the last weeks of her life in the Swannander Sanatorium.

Miss Swannander related how Mrs. Bull had told her of many interviews with the spirits of the Hindu Swami Vivekananda and of her little granddaughter, Edwina Vaughn, as well as conversations the woman had with the voice of her dead husband, Ole Bull, the world-famed violinist. She said that last year Mrs. Bull had sent for her to come to Greendale, Me., where Mrs. Sarah J. Farmer's advanced thought farm.

"When I came to Greendale," said Miss Swannander, "Mrs. Bull was sick in bed and mind. She said something had come into her life—some malign influence, which had sapped her life, and now she was better and she had conquered that influence. She told me that in overcoming this her health had been broken."

"Did she tell you the course of this malign influence?" asked Attorney Whipple.

"No," said Miss Swannander. "One day she called me to her couch, and said, 'Swami Vivekananda came to me from the spirit world. He stood by my couch under an apple or cherry tree in full bloom. He spoke to me and said, 'I have come to care for you.' Edwina also came and stood by my couch in pink radiance. Mrs. Swannander said Mrs. Bull, at the sanatorium in Brooklyn, months later, had told her of other visits she had received from the spirits of Swami Vivekananda and Little Edwina Vaughn.

"Did she have an alarm in the room?"

"Yes," said Miss Swannander. "When pictures of Swami Vivekananda, Owan Ramakrishna, Edwina Vaughn and flowers, and sometimes fruit and incense on the altar."

The witness said Mrs. Bull often appeared exhausted and incoherent after her meditations.

Suspended Head of San Francisco Department Goes to Office in Hall of Justice as Usual.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.—When Chief of Police Seymour arrived at the Hall of Justice today no attempt was made to prevent him from occupying his office. Captain of Detectives Wall, appointed acting chief by the commission yesterday, after Seymour had been suspended pending his trial on charges of unofficial conduct, occupied his usual desk in the Detective Bureau, and made no effort to assume the head of the department. It is not expected that Commissioners Sullivan and Goldberg will seek to violate the writ of prohibition issued against the suspension of Chief Seymour by Judge Seawell. None of the commissioners was present at the Hall of Justice when Chief Seymour arrived.

CHAPTER 57

Experts Comment 80-Ct. Gas

LOS ANGELES ALWAYS HAS prided itself on its low gas rate. Eighty cents per 1000 cubic feet is the lowest prevailing large-city rate for the manufactured product. Few cities have it.

That the rate is extremely reasonable is proved by the expert gas engineers engaged by the Board of Public Utilities to report on local conditions. They recommend that the rate stand.

As a matter of fact, there is justification for an increase in the rate, though none is contemplated by this Company. Since its adoption, the cost of labor, oil, of construction material and of machinery, has advanced heavily.

The cost of oil per 1000 feet of gas manufactured is 3 cents more now than it was a year ago. Paving and other improvement of city streets add tremendously to the cost of maintaining the distributing system. Extensions into sparsely-inhabited sections mean a large outlay, with no early returns.

Mental Pact With Himself Is Kept by Railroad Man
After Six Years.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES)
SAN BERNARDINO, May 26.—Enno J. Von Eckwegen, who six years ago was station agent for the Santa Fe at the lonely station of Keenbrook, today kept a mental pact with himself, which he made six years ago, through a suggestion of Chaplain Mark B. Shaw, the keeping of the strange pact being his marriage to Miss Stella Griffin, formerly a nurse at Patterson.

The suggestion which led to the wedding occurred when Dr.
Shaw was dining with Eckwegen at his lonely post.

"What you need is a pretty face on the other side of the table," was Dr. Shaw's remark, noting the loneliness of the station agent's life.

"If I ever do, I will get married," was the mental response of the agent, "I'll seek out Mark Shaw for the wedding, if I have to go the world around."

Eckwegen remembered his mental pledge through the years, and when he had found his soul mate, he led her before the chaplain, who had completely forgotten the incident until the happy groom recalled it.

ARM TORN FROM THE SHOULDER.

MEXICAN VICTIM OF A HOR-RIBLE ACCIDENT.

Corona.
Corona May 26.—While working about the large conveyor of the Phillips Contracting Company's plant yesterday, Antonio Gonzalez had his left arm caught in the belt and completely torn off, near the shoulder.

Gonzalez was alone when the accident occurred, and his fellow laborers knew nothing of it until the bleeding and maimed man appeared in their midst.

The injured man, was brought to town for medical attendance and later removed to the Riverside Hospital. He is 24 years of age and single.

AN EXPLOSION.
An explosion yesterday of the tank of the double-welding plant temporarily tied up the work of several of the men employed in the big jaw crusher at the Corona Rock Company's plant. The Standard Welding company of Los Angeles had completed about one-half the job, when the accident happened.

NEWS BRIEFS.
Brown and Whitten have sold twenty acres in the Orange Heights tract to Wendigo Brothers of Los Angeles for $7000. The land is to be set to lemons.

Hasel Lott has sold twelve lots lying between Third, Joy and Howard streets to G. E. Snider, trustee.
The purchase price is $2000.

The funeral of Dr. C. E. McFall, who was suffocated while working in his well Tuesday, was held Monday afternoon at the Riverside Hospital. The Rev. J. H. McFall officiated.

A flying stone at the Corona Rock Company's plant cost a Mexican laborer the sight of his right eye yesterday.

A lodge of Knights of Pythias is to be formed here, the sixty prospective members being entertained with a banquet this evening.

Fred Stanley, coroner of Corona, is here in the employ of the government collecting data relative to the extent of irrigation. He is one of eight men covering the State of California.

The work was commenced in September and will be completed throughout the country in two weeks.
The Woman's Improvement Club advised a resolution to hold a protest against further damage to the beauty of Niagara Falls.

A copy of these resolutions will be sent to each Senator and representative from this State. This action of the club is in line with much work previously done.

Physicians from Redlands were sum-

ENGINEER IS AUTO VICTIM.

San Bernardino Man Instantly Killed on Street.

Machine Occupied by Members of Police Force.

Claim They Were Responsible to Hurry Call.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES)
SAN BERNARDINO (Cal.) May 26
—[Exclusive Dispatch.]—Raymond Patten, Santa Fe engineer, while crossing Third street opposite the Santa Fe depot tonight, was instantly killed by an automobile occupied by Policemen J. M. Amarias and George Smith, who were rushing to a residence on Rialto avenue where a Mexican was reported to be killing his wife. The machine was driven by Fred Hendee, who resigned from the police force last week to go into the automobile business.

Though the accident occurred at 8:30 it was not until 10:30 that the implication of the police in the death of Patten was reported. Officer Smith first reporting the accident to Chief of Police W. A. Shay, his explanation of the delay in reporting the affair being that he did not know the accident had resulted seriously. When the machine struck Patten it was going at a terrific speed and failed to stop after striking him.

The officers say they saw two men get down from the machine and one of them was armed with a knife. He was seen to be running away from the machine and they followed him. They did not realize that they had seriously injured the other man, and as their call to the Mexican house was not heard they did not stop to see if he was killed.

At the Mexican house the officers had a battle with Felipe Perez who was armed with a knife. He had to be beaten down before he could be arrested. Chief Police Shay was at the scene of the accident at the time, not returning here until 10:30 when the report of the accident was received. He made direct to him. Under Sheriff Charles Ward was notified by the Chief and Ward at once placed Policemen Shay and Amarias under arrest. The officers are now searching for the man who was seen to be running away from the machine.

He was thrown forty feet, his head being crushed in.

MYSTERY OF TWO DAYS.
Little 5-year-old Ventura Boy
Caused His Mother Many Tears
Through His Vagaries.

VENTURA, May 26.—All of Monday was disturbed yesterday and last night over the disappearance of the 5-year-old son of Mayhew Norton of that place. The father left in the morning for a trip to Anacapa Island.
In the afternoon, the boy was apparently mysteriously. After a time, however, when a search failed to reveal his whereabouts, Mrs. Norton became uneasy and reported to the neighborhood.

This morning, on the arrival of the train from Nordhoff, Conductor Coleman delivered the boy to his overjoyed mother. The little fellow had boarded the train, when it stopped at Montalvo. The trainmen, thinking he was in company with some one on the train, paid little attention to him, but Norton did not get on with the other passengers, as the conductor found himself with a charge on his hands. He took the child to his boarding place and kept him all night.

VENTURA NOTES.
The local steam laundry has fitted itself to the new eight-hour law for women by shortening the hours of the work day from ten to eight hours.
A good roads meeting has been called for this place on Saturday night by S. C. Gear, secretary of the Automobile Club of Southern California. The object is to enlist the work of the good roads people in the various towns bordering Los Angeles and along the coast in the matter of roads, uniting all in better and more systematic work.

Mrs. Robert Callie and family will move to El Centro in a few days, where her sons will go into the cattle business.

Memorial Day Excursions.
Account Decoration Day, Southern Pacific will sell special round-trip tickets between stations in California, where the one-way fare is $1.00 or less, at one and one-half fare.

ARREST COMES AS BIG RELIEF.

ALLEGED MEMBER OF MAYBRAY
GANG IN CUSTODY.

Found Near San Bernardino on His Wife's Ranch and Waives Examination—Glad He's Over, He Says, as He Has Been Expecting to Be Captured.

W. S. Gibson, asserted to be one of the members of the famous Maybray gang, was arrested yesterday by United States Deputy Marshal Ben Franklin at his ranch, three miles from San Bernardino, and brought to this city.
Gibson waived examination before United States Commissioner Van Dyke, and gave bond in the sum of $1000 for his appearance in court at Council Bluffs, Iowa, next September.

The indictment under which the arrest was made was returned at Council Bluffs, September 22, 1909, in the District Court of the southern district of Iowa. It charged that Gibson, with others, had co-operated to defraud certain persons out of money and property through the medium of the United States mails and the postoffice at Council Bluffs.

For the past sixteen months Gibson has been living with his family, consisting of his second wife and two children, on the ranch where he was found. He expressed satisfaction that he had been apprehended, saying that he had been expecting arrest for months and was glad that he now had a chance to defend himself. In regard to the specific acts charged against him, he would say nothing.

His wife, who, it appears, is the owner of the ranch, furnished the bonds.
Gibson is the third arrest of alleged Maybrays in this city and vicinity. Ten have been apprehended in this State.
Fifty were placed on trial in Council Bluffs, forty-nine of whom were found guilty. The warrant for the arrest of Gibson has been in the hands of United States Marshal Young-worth since October, 1909. Information was brought to the office some time ago that Gibson had settled in the vicinity of San Bernardino and close watch has been kept on his movements ever since.

The Maybray gang was the greatest combination of swindlers with which the postoffice department has had to do in recent years. Until the final round-up at Council Bluffs, their operations covered the entire West. It is estimated that they cleaned up hundreds of thousands of dollars.

MAKES TWO ARRESTS.
Deputy Sheriff Sepulveda made two arrests yesterday of men wanted on criminal charges. Joe Grohala, accused of seduction, was found at Ninth and Santee streets. He is wanted in Orange county. Severo Manderiquez, accused of wife murder at Corona, was taken to Riverside last night by Sheriff Wilson.

LIVELY CONVENTION EXPECTED.

County School Trustees Meet Today and Will Open Old-fashioned Question Box for Discussion.

The convention of the county school trustees will be held this morning at 9 o'clock in Blanchard Hall. It is expected that more than 200 will be present, from both the high and grammar school boards, representing the 169 districts of the county.

The opening address will be delivered by Joseph Scott, followed by County Superintendent Keppel, who will talk on "School Money: How Provided and How Distributed."

State Senator Newton W. Thompson will speak on "The Levying of a Special Tax by a School District."
Luncheon will be served at Levy's.
At 3 o'clock there will be an old-fashioned question box. All present will be invited to an exchange of views on live questions relating to school legislation and administration. It is probable that district taxation and changes made recently in school law, notably in the apportionment of funds wholly by average daily attendance, will come in for lively argument.

By the provision regulating district taxation, a levy can be made by a board of trustees, provided the concurrence of the County Superintendent and Supervisors is obtained, without calling an election. This was done in seventy-three districts of the county last year. There is some difference of opinion as to the practicability of this method.

Under the State code, each board of trustees is empowered to elect one delegate, whose expenses will be paid. All others will be welcome, but must defray their own expenses.

Keppel will put in a busy week, following the convention. He will address a mass meeting at Alhambra on Monday evening, called to discuss the coming issue of school bonds. On Thursday he will talk to the graduating class at Redondo; Friday at El Monte, and Saturday at Annan-dale.

AS TO UNCLE JOE.

Former Speaker Joseph Gurney Cannon says he is determined to live until he is 150 years old. That is a long time to be on the outside looking in. And it would be just like Uncle Joe to hang on that long just to worry our friends, the enemy.

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

Memorial Day will mark the fiftieth anniversary of the opening year of the Civil War. It should be a great event to the veterans and those who owe so much to their sacrifices. The Union they saved now counts up nearly 92,000,000 people. Cheers for the living and tears for the dead!

THE WOOL TARIFF.

A strong effort will be made by the Democrats in Congress to reduce the present duty on wool at least 50 per cent. That would mean a loss of $10,000,000 a year in revenue, when the country needs every dollar it can raise. How do they propose to make the deficit good? This is a little question in arithmetic, and no good Democrat need have any hesitancy in answering it—by can.

POOR PAY FOR PASTORS.

The average salary of the vacant pastorates in New York City and State is said to be $500 per annum. No wonder they are vacant. A minister is worthy of his hire, and the fact that salary is low is no reason why the clergyman should be allowed to starve. There is no calling in the world that demands such work and sacrifices as the preaching of the Word. And it is to the eternal disgrace of the people that the clergy are so poorly paid.

RESTRICTING MARRIAGES.

The Western Unitarian Conference has adopted a resolution favoring uniform marriage laws in the United States and requiring a physical examination of both parties to a marriage contract before they are allowed to wed. This last proposition is rather radical, but it is in line with advanced and humanitarian thought. We pick the stock when breeding other animals. Marriage as now conducted is a lottery, especially for the women. Something ought to be done to protect the innocent.

THE CHICAGO EQUIPMENT.

The citizens of Chicago have ceased to hurl anathemas at the Signal Service Bureau, which is dishing them out weather that makes the mercury in the thermometer vibrate from 26 to 92 with a velocity equal to the flutters of an acapaloo rooster. They turn to themselves those beautiful lines of the poet Moore—

"What can't be cured, love, Must be endured, love."

They quote with unctious words of Marcus Aurelius Antoninus, "Let it make no difference to thee whether thou art cold or warm, if thou art doing thy duty."

The Chicago citizen sees it that his electric fans are in order, his furnace fires ready for starting and his fuel bin and ice chest well supplied. He packs a linen suit and a Panama hat in a grip sack and, with it in his hand, and his overcoat on his arm, he goes to his place of business sneering at climatic changes.

THE MELTING OF AN ESTATE.

Charles D. Elzen of Herman, Mo., died leaving an estate valued at $500,000 to his daughter, who was the wife of Dr. Louis Zorn of Kansas City. The lady departed this life many years ago, and the widow claimed that she had left her estate to him. This claim was resisted by the son of the widow by a former marriage, who brought suit by his guardian—the public administrator—to recover it from Dr. Zorn.

Added to the suit for the estate, the doctor had some litigation of his own with the State of Missouri. In 1903 he was charged with the murder of Albert Zechrest, his tenant. He was convicted, but the hangman's rope touched him not, for the State Supreme Court reversed the judgment and granted him a new trial. He not only had a new trial, but fairly rolled in new trials. He had three of them, each resulting in a hung jury. It was said to be an illustration of King Lear's remark—

"Plate sin with gold,
And the strong lance of justice hurtless breaks."

The disgusted District Attorney finally dismissed the charge against the doctor. The suit over the estate lagged while the criminal proceedings were pending. Dr. Zorn's stepson grew up and the worry of the litigation landed him in the asylum for the insane at St. Joseph, Mo. But the suit abated not. At each term of court it occupied the attention of justice for an hour or so, while she made generous allowances out of the estate to commissioners, and to distinguished counsel on both sides, and for guardian's fees, and court costs, and necessary expenses of litigation. Having completed his litigation with the State of Missouri, the doctor turned his attention to pushing the court for a decision of the suit with the guardian of his insane stepson. This suit had not been pending more than ten years and his unceasing haste was punished by a ruling giving him a decision in the place where the hangman's noose had failed to reach him—in the neck.

The court awarded the estate to the crazy stepson, or rather to his guardian, the public administrator. Of the $500,000 originally in issue but $176,281.60 remains; $323,718.40 has been disbursed in litigation and "unnecessary expenses." Still there is enough left to make the office of Public Administrator well worth the attention of a reform progressive insurgent politician of any party.

NOW SUPPRESS THE BANDITS.

Diaz has joined the long list of great men who have been sacrificed to the passions and the prejudices of their ungrateful and unappreciative countrymen. Aristides was banished because the Greeks were tired of hearing him called "the Just." Socrates was forced to drink the hemlock juice. Columbus perished miserably. History is full of the names of statesmen and soldiers and philosophers whose services to humanity have been requited with ingratitude and injustice and sometimes with imprisonment and death.

It may be truthfully said of Diaz that nothing in his official life became him more than the reason he gave for leaving it. He resigned "since, in order to continue in office, it would be necessary to shed Mexican blood, endangering the credit of the country, dissipating its wealth, exhausting its resources and exposing its policy to international complications."

Unlike South American rulers who, being deposed by revolution looted the public treasury and fled to Europe for asylum, Diaz remains in Mexico, still devoting his life to his countrymen.

It is a significant fact that when Deputy Jose Aspe, who produced the letter of resignation of Diaz, declared that "the good that Gen. Diaz had done would live forever in history and outweigh his mistakes" the applause shook the building.

"The King is dead. Live the King." The announcement of De la Barra that he will not be a candidate for the Presidency at the forthcoming election leaves a clear field—as at present appears—for Madero. Unlike other insurgent leaders who are revolutionists for revenue only, Madero is a man of such great wealth ($20,000,000) as to purge him of the suspicion that he would use the Presidency to promote his private fortunes. He will have—as De la Barra will have during the interregnum before election—the support of the followers of Diaz in preserving order and restoring prosperity. These, with the aid of the better elements of Madero's forces, will probably be able to suppress the bandits and drive the I-Won't-Workers back over the line to pillage the back yards and plunder the hen roosts of Arizona and of Imperial and San Diego counties.

ABOUT NOTHING AT ALL.

Our steamed contemporary, the Express, in one of its hysterical and dishonest outbursts about nothing at all, asserts that "The Times long since forfeited, together with its character and reputation, the trust, esteem and confidence of the community." The Times might administer the retort courtesy by saying that there is the difference between it and its steamed contemporary. The Express has not forfeited "its character and reputation and the trust, esteem and confidence of the community" for the all-sufficient reason that it could not forfeit what it never possessed, or, as the Chinaman at the mission replied when the presiding elder cautioned him not to lose his money at fan-tan—"No have got, how can lose?"

When the Express asserts that The Times has ever lost anything—except the property which the friends and pupils of the Express sent into the midnight air with dynamite—it is, eh? well "economical of the truth to the verge of parsimony." The Times is doing very well, God be thanked! It prints the largest newspaper and has the largest advertising patronage of any paper in the United States. It has a circulation which that of the Express no more resembles "than a mist resembles the rain," and its stock of "character, reputation and the trust, esteem and confidence" of the generous, brave, sneaking community in which it is published is almost as large as the contempt of the same community for the snarling little newspaper cur who yelps at it.

Concerning Gov. Johnson's speech, The Times regrets that its Pasadena correspondent expressed (in his own language, and its Governor's) his erroneous assumption that the bloviating, Times-hating, fundamental-kicking censor of other people meant Works when he referred to somebody as old-foghorn and biased; it regrets that the correspondent rescued from obscurity the speech of his super-heated Excellency by publishing any reference to it at all. And now it remarks to both the Governor and his injudicious eulogist what the householder remarked to the midnight tomcat—"Scat!"

LIKE OLD KYRENE BILLY.

Why, in the name of justice and common sense, should the government of the United States withhold patents from coal claimants in Alaska against whom no charges have been filed? Alaskans will sue to some of the finest beds of bituminous and anthracite coal in the world are compelled to import inferior coal from British Columbia for their necessary use because the government will not allow the Alaska coal to be mined.

This prohibition is made operative not merely to new and to unapproved locations of coal lands. It is extended to coal lands who have complied with the law and who have paid the government for the land and against whom no charges of fraud or illegality have been made or suggested.

The Times feels tenderly toward our great-grandchildren, in whose behalf this policy of Pinchotic conservation is so rigidly and so unrighteously invoked. But it has confidence in their progressiveness and believes that when they shall occupy the field of human action they will condense and store the sun's rays in little stone bottles so that when the room requires artificial heat—which is seldom the case in Los Angeles—all that it will be necessary to do will be to pull out the plug and let enough of the sunshine escape to elevate the temperature to the proper thermometer altitude. Gas for cooking and lighting will be made from fuel oil, or probably electric heat and light generated at Yosemite, or on the Colorado River, will be wired here, and coal, along with whale oil and Sedan chairs, will be in evidence only in the museums as a relic of a former age.

But all this will be in the saccharine subsequently. At present the Los Angeles are greatly interested in the Alaska coal land controversy, for neither gas nor electricity nor coal can afford those sensations of calm comfort which a Christian feels in poking the fire in the parlor grate and watching the little jets of flame sputter and sputter.

Was a merry old soul.

The Alaska coal can be landed here at a freight cost of less than one-third the expense of bringing coal from New Mexico or Colorado and at a trifling expense above the cost of freight from the Puget Sound coal fields. The Alaska coal is superior to either the Rocky Mountain coal or the Puget Sound coal for steam-making purposes and vastly superior for domestic purposes.

RADICAL FOLLY IN AUSTRALIA

The overthrow of the "progressive" regime in Australia a few days ago, as the result of a tidal wave of reaction against its radical policies, is to be cited as an augury of what is in store for politicians of the same stripe who seek to run our government along similar lines. The dominant party in Australia is known as the Labor party, but in this case there is nothing in a party. At least the Labor party out there has little in common with the movement of wage-earners which ever and anon cuts a figure in our national politics. The Australian laborites are politicians to the core.

This was made apparent by their adept method of nomination. Once elected he becomes a member of a caucus which indorses the programme to which its members individually stand pledged, and which is, in effect, the programme of the government. Pledged again to the caucus, the member is a puppet in a body whose action, as a deliberative assembly is a farce. The Parliament is not for debate, but simply meets to register the will of the "peepul" as passed along through the caucus. Again the Senate takes its orders from the lower house. No amendments are allowed, and the disfigurement of representative government is complete. Heretofore the Australian Senate has exercised the right to criticize and reject measures acted upon by the House.

The pitch to which direct government had gone before the people realized how the theory was working out in practice is perhaps best described by Sir William McMillan, a member of the Senate, under the former government. "We have the extraordinary position of affairs in Australia," said Sir William, "that the people whose money and brains have built up the commonwealth are entirely outside its government, while national policy and executive action are directed by men who have very little at stake in the country, and whose income is what they receive as members of Parliament."

Australia has passed the meridian toward which the "progressives" are endeavoring to steer this country. . . . Australia is going back to conservative policies, and so shall we.

Correctly Timed.
"It took that racing motor car twenty minutes to pass this house."
"Impossible."
"Fact. I could hear it ten minutes before it got here and I could see it ten minutes after it passed."—[Toledo Blade.]

EXPLAINING IT TO HER.

"John, why are the Mexicans fighting?"
"To stop the tyranny of Diaz."
"Who is he?"
"The President of Mexico."
"Oh, has Mexico a President?"
"Certainly. You didn't suppose the country was running itself, did you?"
"Well, if they have a President, I should think they would be satisfied. It is much better than having a king."
"Not always. It is sometimes possible for a President to be even more of a tyrant than a king could be."
"What has he done?"
"For one thing he has permitted poeage to continue."
"Poeage? What's that?"
"Mercy sakes! Are there many colored people in Mexico?"
"A great many of the Mexicans are Indians, or half Indian and half Spanish. Diaz himself is part Indian."
"I thought all the Indians were in this country."
"No, there are probably more Indians in Mexico than in the United States."
"How did they get there?"
"In the same way that they got here, I suppose."
"Well, I don't see why we should bother about the troubles of people in South America."
"Mexico isn't in South America."
"Isn't it? Why, you didn't take me there when we went to Europe."—[Chicago Record-Herald.]

OUT OF THE WEST.

The West can give you nothing if only bread; The rain is wasted on the sod that bears Only the springing wheat whose golden head Is bowed in wind-bird worship of the sun.

The West is poor, indeed, if only gold Is hidden in the river rock, and man, A shadow on the mountain side and old, A fool who tosses trinkets in a pan.

Five centuries have ringed the cedar tree. Five hundred wasted years if it must fall To make a woodman's fire, such destiny More fits the turf that dries beside the wall.

The West shall give you strength of mind; The soil Broken beneath the share shall three-fold yield Of character, and through the pain of toil Man's power shall learn its sinews in the field.

[A. M. Harris, in St. Louis Globe-Democrat.]

THE SENATE A PLACE OF PERIL.

The United States Senate is a pathetically good thing for the doctors. Being a Senator is one of the most wearing jobs that a man could well find. If the truth be told about it the reason so many Senators have died in the last few months is that being a Senator is a deadly occupation. During the last weeks of the tariff session a census of the Senate was made by two of its members, who reported that over half its members were regularly under the care of physicians. Bad nerves, bad stomachs, loss of sleep, overwork, close confinement in offices and ill-ventilated Senate chamber constituted the basis of trouble. The average Senator rises to big responsibilities, important committee places, etc., at about the age when other men are laying down the most onerous demands on their time. The burdens grow heavier as the men become less able easily to bear them. But there will continue to be plenty of comfortably fixed old gentlemen applying for the toga just the same.—[Washington Times.]

Why He Came.

There was a young woman named Strong, Much given to slang, which is wrong; "Will this man you wed?" "Sure," she said, "Sure, Mike! That's why he's along."—[Detroit Free Press.]

But, protested the plain citizen.

"But," protested the plain citizen, "don't you consider honesty a good thing?" "Sure," replied the politician, "but it's like every other good thing; you've got to make money before you can afford it."—[Catholic Standard and Times.]

EXPLAINED.

BY DORA OLIPHANT COE.

"Truth lies at the bottom of a well." I have come slowly but surely to the conviction that this campaign for woman suffrage is being carried on at the bottom of a well.

Do you know why?

Ah! Then will I tell you.

I have some friends and acquaintances whose veracity I cannot doubt, and these same persons I find making, with charming naivete, the most astounding statements in regard to the subject. Calmly, with the artlessness of an innocent child, they will state—or print—the news that some club of which I am a member has voted unanimously for woman suffrage. Or they will say that a vote at a certain meeting has been five to one for political equality when the only possible way to tell which way the vote went was by sound. Then they will proclaim joyfully that some college has come out enthusiastically for "The Cause" when they know—and I know—that the college club in that college is to the college enrollment as 40 to 500.

At first, and for some time, the discrepancies between the published statements and the real facts bothered me, but a careful review of the past months and a sane summing up of all of the conclusions have comforted me greatly.

The heart's ease has come because I am now assured that these fair friends of mine, who are such ardent bearers of the flag with the five stars, never, never deliberately would tell anything but the truth.

And yet— Since the geographical location of the battlefield on which is being fought "The Ladies' Battle" is the bottom of the well, the statements of these truthful individuals cease to bother me.

For at the bottom of a well—Truth "lies."

WHAT THE GOVERNOR SAYS HE SAID.

The Times has never sought to put words in the mouth of Gov. Johnson, because it never could devise anything so discreditable as the Governor's own words.

A Times correspondent in Pasadena assumed that a part of the Governor's Pasadena address referred to Senator Works and bracketed this assumption, not stating that the Governor used the name of Works. The Governor declares in a bitter screed that he did not refer to Works, did not have him in mind. Very well. Let it go at that. So we said yesterday. We never have disputed the Governor on this point.

The Times reproduces extracts from an alleged-to-be verbatim copy of his speech, printed in the Express, referring to the recall of the Judiciary.

"I have read with interest the words of this distinguished Governor in opposition to the idea that we have advanced in this State, and that has been advanced in some other States. I am, as yet, unconvinced. Not only unconvinced, but I believe that after all the courts—and I am not criticizing judges now or abusing the courts—but the courts are the last stand of the interests in our land, and the courts are ultimately the last stand of privilege in this country. And so, believing in democracy—in democracy as we understand it—the California Legislature made the recall applicable to every judicial, whether he be judicial, or whether he be administrative, or whether he be executive."

"It is taken by our friends in the East as an attack upon the judiciary and the judges that we should make applicable to them the recall. It is not an attack. It is not in any sense complimentary in any degree to the judges in this land that the recall should be made applicable to them. No just judge need fear it. It will make no weak judge less strong. It will make no strong judge less strong. It menaces the corrupt and the corrupt judge alone."

"The point of divergence between the distinguished Governor from New Jersey and myself in this regard is in the initial premise. He starts with a belief in an appellate judiciary. I start with our democracy in believing in an elective judiciary. He starts with a premise that a judge should be responsible to an appointive power. I start with our democracy, with the premise that a judge, like any other official, is yet a man responsible to the people and the people alone."

"There is the great point of divergence between some of our friends and ourselves upon this question. I read last night the remarks of a distinguished Congressman from New York upon this subject, delivered yesterday, I think, in the House of Representatives. His remarks are such as, with a brief compass, beautifully express and convey the position of our opponents upon this question and, although unable to read to you, at this time, those remarks, I may paraphrase them, not in the language he has given them, for his language and diction were perfect, but by saying that he starts with the idea that the judiciary is the arch in this governmental structure of ours, that we must not in any fashion hold this weapon over the judiciary as affecting them at all; and then he continues, as most of our brethren do, by talking of what the rabble in their passion may do with judges who render certain decisions."

"Now, I am willing to concede to that distinguished gentleman that the judiciary of the State of New York, selected by such a patriotic assemblage as Tammany Hall, is above suspicion, and I am willing to concede to him that judges thus selected possess uprightness and integrity that could not be found in other places in the United States. [Laughter.] And, by the way, we need not talk of judges in particular places, but rather I would go far afield and talk of judges that are in the domain of the Ahkood of Swat, or in the Ruritania of Anthony Hope, so we may not hurt the sensibilities of those gentlemen who have constituted themselves guardians of the judiciary in this State and in the United States." Etc.

THE MOST DANGEROUS TRUST.

If the steel trust were to attempt in secret to do the hundredth part of what the labor-union trust does fearlessly and proudly, its officers would be jailed to the last man, its property would be confiscated, its plants destroyed and its name made a household synonym for utter villainess. And yet where is the difference? Why is a trust that deals in labor permitted and even encouraged to do what is infamous and criminal when done by a trust dealing in commodities far less essential to national and individual existence?

We shall do better when we are more consistent, more frank. The unpleasant fact is, that the labor trust flourishes through a species of political cowardice which deters not call things by their right names for fear of alienating votes. This boldest and most lawless of all trusts has succeeded in creating for itself a kind of rule and dominance by force and terrorism. The trust hunters are lined up and hunting material for further campaigns of smashing. Does any of them dare swing a hammer, turn a finger or lift a voice against the labor trust?—[San Francisco Newsletter.]

Bound the horizon far and wide, Stretches the glories of the vast, And every grim coyote face and howl, And barked by summer's burning sun, Blinds.

And mocks alike dumb beast and man, Desolate the distant mountains, With visions bare bones to mark the trail, And every grim coyote face and howl, And barked by summer's burning sun, Blinds.

Thy very brute creation men and beast, Reveal the vagrant stamp, a desert, And every grim coyote face and howl, And barked by summer's burning sun, Blinds.

Dwelling in holes scooped in the sand, Repulsive, implacable, the desert, But demonstrate the fitness of the land, Yet I have learned to love the desert, And often when at evening of the day, Sitting alone far from the haunts of men, I've watched old earth have sleep.

And viewing with a clearer, clearer eye, The mighty workings of the desert, Have felt that there was something plain.

And as the setting sun flung his rays, A golden flood, a warm incense, Staining the distant mountains, With a glow that seemed to hold the sun, And pouring o'er the bones gray and old, A mellow glow that seemed to hold the sun, Looking the band that were in the sun, bound.

Then I have felt indeed a desert, And as I dreamed before my vision, Another desert, white as vision, With countless orchards budding, fair.

And fertile fields, and running water, With many a stately home, and many a play, And gentle women guide their paths, Transfigured by the desert glow, Victorville, Cal.

continued national dances, in which the girls of the Golden West, from the Scandinavian Peninsula to the warm sands of the Mediterranean, will be seen.

A professional equipment of orchestra, scenery and costumes is prominent.

Eleanor Gordon, late of the Belasco company, opened an evening of the Lindy Morrison Stock Company, at the Majestic Theatre in Houston, a week ago last Sunday.

The play was "The Girl of the Golden West" and a very large audience gave her a genuine ovation. Miss Gordon was the leading woman of this organization last summer, and was a favorite at that time.

Notices were all that any star might desire.

If anyone wants to thoroughly understand Dickens's famous warning: "Beware of the vices, Samvel, beware of the vices!" delivered through the mouth of the elder Weiler, he must see Billie Burke in "Mrs. Dot" at the Mason next week.

"Mrs. Dot," Miss Burke plays the part of a peculiarly fascinating widow, and every one who recalls the pretty actress in "Love Watches" can readily understand how fascinating she can be.

In a vaudeville theater holocaust in Edinburgh some days ago ("The Great Lafayette," a famous vaudeville performer who carried a company of thirty-two people, lost his life, and the professional journals have been full of comment and pictures. The biographies invariably assert that Los Angeles was Lafayette's home town, though this seems to be a matter of surprise to many local people, who never remember seeing him here in any residential capacity.

Incidentally, the fire proved the superiority of the rigid curtain. An iron drop lowered, confined the flames to the stage, and a capacity audience moved in order and without accident to the street. The back of the proscenium was entirely destroyed.

CADDIGAN'S GET-AWAY.

In 1883 with an alert vigilance committee close behind, punctuating their warnings never to return with arguments more emphatic than words.

Caddigan, it is alleged, had turned some crooked jobs and the hustling western camp preferred his room to his company. He was associated in the New Mexican city with several notorious characters, two of them being the famous Blonger brothers, and one of them Soap Smith, the great confidence man, who was perhaps less clever, but a deal more real than J. Rufus Wallingford.

Soap's death in Alaska, the officers say, removed the last of that old gang of desperadoes.

Caddigan's first claim to local distinction was his arrest here in February in connection with X. F. Holler, charged with attempting to swindle Mrs. Ida Kendall out of a large sum by negotiating for the sale of a gold brick.

SEIZED BY WANDERLUST. Lads, Believed to Have Started From Arizona, are Reported Missing From Their Homes Here.

Charles Watson of No. 5305 York boulevard has asked the police to help him find his son, Orin, 14 years old, who ran away from home yesterday morning. The boy is said to have been in connection with X. F. Holler, charged with attempting to swindle Mrs. Ida Kendall out of a large sum by negotiating for the sale of a gold brick.

Watson said last night that the two boys only had $15 between them and had walked the streets for days.

Orin Watson is described as being 5 feet, 5 inches in height, light complexioned, and blue eyes. He wore a short light jacket, knee breeches and a light cap.

Cecil James is also light complexioned and was similarly dressed, in a light suit, and long trousers. He wore a light cap. He took another suit of clothes and a cowboy hat with him.

At the close of yesterday, the subscription to the Y. M. C. A. Extension Fund were as follows:

At the luncheon yesterday noon of the campaign committee for raising $500,000 for the Y.M.C.A. extension fund, great enthusiasm was created by the announcement of $10 subscribed by a little girl 3 1/2 years of age. Her name was not announced, as her parents desired that it should be kept secret. The girl, who is a native of the city, is a member of the Y.M.C.A. and has been a subscriber for some time.

It was with some difficulty that her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Cross, were persuaded to give her picture to the Times. The girl, who is a native of the city, is a member of the Y.M.C.A. and has been a subscriber for some time.

Another interesting incident occurred a day or two ago, when a little newsboy entered the headquarters, and with earnest purpose announced that he wanted to give something to the Y.M.C.A. He had a few cents, and he wanted to give them to the Y.M.C.A. He had a few cents, and he wanted to give them to the Y.M.C.A.

"Uncle Billy" Workman, who yesterday gave a lot valued at $2000 as a contribution to the Y.M.C.A. fund, was seen yesterday making a speech. The crowd insisted upon having it, so he spoke for some time.

"I've been through the mill myself and I know how to appreciate what the association is doing for our city. I came to Los Angeles seven years ago, and I know that it is to go to saloons and pool-houses to spend an evening, but we had no other place to go, outside of our homes. I had a good mother, and she insisted on my coming in at a quarter of eight every evening. I have plenty of property, but not much money. I am on the lot at auction and you can sell it for $5000."

A. P. Fleming, of the Board of Directors, announced that he had decided, out of respect for the nation's dead, to do his work on Memorial Day. Hence the campaign will be suspended on Monday.

John E. Edwards and Lieut. Gov. Wallace made short addresses in the interest of the campaign, and urging the men to support efforts.

W. W. Stone, general secretary of the Portland, Or., Y.M.C.A., who has been one of the active workers at the local headquarters for several days, left yesterday afternoon for Columbus, O., where he will attend the international Y.M.C.A. convention.

Next Thursday night, the campaign will be in session at the time the Los Angeles campaign closes, and Mr. Stone will be confidently expected to have the privilege of reading a telegram to his fellow workers in Columbus announcing the complete success of the movement here. He has had a large experience in campaigns of this kind. He conducted the noon meeting yesterday, and in speaking of the outlook in Los Angeles, said:

"GIFTS ARE TOO FEW.

"This campaign is notable both for the number of large subscriptions obtained before the formal opening, and for the thoroughness of its organization. Thus far, however, the average citizen has been a trifle slow in responding to the appeals. I have noticed that the general sense of responsibility for this work is not so great, apparently, as in some of the other large Coast cities where I have engaged in similar work. It may be that it is understood that this campaign cannot succeed merely as the result of the gifts of a dozen wealthy men. If they succeed, and I feel certain that they will, it will be because of the gifts of the thousands of people who believe in Los Angeles and in the Y.M.C.A. Men's Christian Association."

The only possible way in which this half-million dollars can be raised, will be for the large number of men of comparatively limited means to have a part and do their share. In none of the other large Coast cities were the campaigns started out with such large gifts as have been announced here. Their subscriptions were more of a popular nature. In Portland, for instance, the $350,000 which was raised represented donations from between 7000 and 8000 persons, while in Spokane there were nearly 4000 subscribers to a $150,000 fund.

"The work done in the Los Angeles Y.M.C.A. building justifies the directors in asking for a million dollars for the present board has demonstrated its ability to effectively administer the funds placed at its disposal. The growth of the association here has been remarkable, but it has not kept pace with the growth of the city, and the $500,000 which the directors now ask for will do no more than cover present needs."

The last call.

"TAPS" CALLED FOR COMRADES.

Twenty-two Pass Away From STANTON POST.

Memorial Services Held for Deceased Unusually Impressive. Tribute of Affection Touched Faith Taught by Living Christ. Women's Relief Corps Mourns.

Stanton Post, G.A.R., held its usual memorial services last evening at the post headquarters for "Taps" has been sounded for twenty-two of its members within the past twelve months. The services, which were presided over by Commander J. W. Dolan, assisted by Chaplain J. S. Willson, were interesting and impressive.

The hall had been beautifully decorated with flags and flowers. Twenty-two vacant chairs were also decorated, one for each of the deceased comrades. This work was done by the members of Stanton Women's Relief Corps.

Adjt. J. M. Guinn read the names of the soldiers dead, giving a brief military history of each. Comrade Philip Case, the veteran Drummer Boy of Shiloh, gave three muffled rolls upon his drum, for each name. This was followed in several cases by brief remarks from various comrades. Among the names called were: Daniel W. Field, Joseph H. Lapham, D. H. Hatfield, H. H. Reynolds, Arthur M. Parker, Edwin Haxter, Eugene A. Routh, George W. Varnum, Charles Lange, William S. Bagnell, John G. Hogan, Joseph D. McCandless, William H. Newton, William W. Samuel, P. Thomas, Lemuel O. Merrill, George A. Friedman, Emory B. Holden, Jeremiah Heath, Abraham J. Washburn.

Comrade J. W. Dolan delivered the oration of the evening. In concluding he said:

"We close this tribute of affection for our brothers gone before, fully realizing that they cannot return to us; painfully considering that we shall never again hear their cheery voices, or mingle with them around our camp fires, nor touch elbows with them in the battle of life in which we are yet engaged. While the weakness of our humanity causes us to mourn their absence, and we silently drop tears of regret, yet the faith taught by a living Christ assures that they are forever at rest beside the still waters in the living green pastures of that beautiful land called Heaven."

Immediately following these exercises Stanton Women's Relief Corps conducted its beautiful memorial exercises for the departed soldiers of the corps. Nine of them passed away within the year.

ONE WOMAN'S GOOD WORK.

Mrs. Bradley Reports on Benefits of Bethlehem Free Dispensary, a Boom to the Poor.

Mrs. A. I. Bradley, who organized the free dispensary at Bethlehem institution, and has been its superintendent for twelve years, has just made her report for the ended May 1, showing the great benefit the dispensary is to the neighborhood in which it is located. It has been open five days each week, during this entire time, averaging two hours a day. During the year, 3192 patients were treated, or an average of more than twelve a day. The superintendent has had the free services of Drs. Pascoe, Collier, Chaffin and Cline, assisted by Miss Perce, a faithful nurse. Dr. Sherwin Gilchrist has also given his services as consulting physician.

In addition to this service, requiring the attention of Mrs. Bradley every day, she has conducted a Sunday evening meeting in Bethlehem Church, for men and women, and latterly two of them; and on another day, a Boys' Club. All this added to her self-imposed duties in the interest of poor women. To this work, Mrs. Bradley has sacrificed financially since her marriage. She has given up all the women and children turn in their extremity, and none ever appeal to her in vain for sympathy and more substantial help, and the "neighborhood" in which she operates include the entire city, when occasion demands.

GREAT MEETING PLANNED.

Suffrage Rally To Be First Downtown Precinct Gathering Held in Opt-For-Woman Campaign.

One of the largest meetings since the beginning of the woman suffrage campaign is being arranged by the Political Equality League to be held at the Lankershim Hotel at 3:40 o'clock next Saturday, when Mrs. A. S. Lobinger, president of the Woman's City Club, will speak. This meeting, besides being a general rally for woman suffrage, will be in the special interests of Precinct No. 55, and will be the first downtown precinct meeting to be held in Los Angeles. Others besides Mrs. Lobinger who will speak include Mrs. Shelley Tolhurst, Mrs. A. S. Lobinger and Senator Gates.

Dr. Midore Myers will address the Political Equality meeting at Choral Hall this afternoon on the subject of woman suffrage from the Jewish standpoint, and Mrs. Imogene Oakley will speak on the result of the suffrage work in England. At 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, B. Fay Mills will speak at Blanchard Hall.

At the meeting of the Vates For Women Club in Blanchard Hall Monday night, Mrs. E. T. Wilkes and Mrs. Mae Guthrie Tongler. The club has just received a new batch of 25,000 buttons which the officers say are selling like hot cakes. They say that if they get as many votes on October 10 as they have sold buttons during the last month there is little fear of the result of the election. Next Thursday night Mrs. E. T. Wilkes will speak in favor of political equality at the Universalist church in Pasadena.

BANDITS—DYING OFFICER.

also found. Scarbough denied an acquaintance with Crossley. He refused to talk about his arrest.

Scarbough's arrest was due to the vigilance of Detective McNamara, who watched him closely since the last hold-up at Doyle's. McNamara says he believes Scarbough is only one of a gang of five or six who have been working throughout the city. More than a score of persons who have been held up were taken to the Central Station, but Crossley, according to Detective Hawley, could not be identified.

At first sullen and indifferent, Crossley afterward broke down and told considerable of his career. When first arrested he gave the name of John Holland, later said it was Patrick Henry Kelly, and then admitted that his name is Crossley, and that under this name he had been sentenced to fifteen years' imprisonment in the Folsom penitentiary for burglary. His penitentiary identification card made conclusive by the police identification bureau. According to the records, Crossley was sent up for burglary from San Joaquin county February 22, 1906, first to Folsom, where he was registered as No. 6011, and transferred to San Quentin June 26, 1906. There he was No. 21781.

In the evening fight with Crossley Thursday night, Crossley was shot in the right side of the chest, between the sixth and seventh ribs, the bullet penetrating the lungs and entering the stomach. The severest wound of Crossley's right jaw was practically shot away.

WARREN WOLVERINE STARS.

Classy Cross-Continental Tourer Makes Hit in Funny Sketch After Hard Run.

It isn't every day that an automobile gets a chance to star in a real, live drama or even in vaudeville. Yet such an honor recently befell a certain well-known transcontinental car which is now en route up the Pacific Coast.

The scene of action was down in one of the numerous desert valleys in Southern California, and the way the auto came into the play was in this manner:

Down in this valley at this particular time a well-known moving picture man and his picture camera were rehearsing a drama of Western life preparatory to the making of the final picture. At the same moment, a transcontinental car—the Warren-Detroit "Wolverine"—was plowing its path through the alkali wastes on its way from Los Angeles to Frisco.

The time was noon, and the crew of the car were hot, hungry and thirsty. As they came upon the moving picture outfit they were greeted with an enthusiastic and noisy welcome, coupled with an invitation to stop and have a bite to eat. And leave it to hungry heroes-to-be to make good when it comes meal time.

During luncheon every one became pretty well acquainted; the manager ran over the play, informed the crew of the plot, and the time, passed quickly and pleasantly.

"Why not let our car into the play?" said the driver of the machine. "Can't," said the manager, "plot's all made up."

"How," said the boss of the troupe. "Kill the sheriff's horse," said he of the auto without a quiver in his voice.

"What then," asked the M.P.M. "Make the plot run something like this," suggested the man with the goggles. "Had man kills the gambler—shoots it the hills—Sheriff follows—had man kills Sheriff's horse—Sheriff keeps after him on foot—goes sun-blind—Warren's transcontinental Wolverine comes on the scene on the way to Frisco—Sheriff impresses car in his service—hikes after had man—follows and corners him in foghills—hand-to-hand fight—handcuffs—into auto—into jail—curtain."

"Great," shouted the picture taker, and for one long hot hour, the crew of the "Wolverine" rehearsed their part in the play for pay, as Belinger said, "butting in on a free lunch."

Battle Stories of The Civil War.

War Day by Day Fifty Years Ago.

L.V.

1861.—A Union Force from Fortress Monroe Occupied Newport News, at the Mouth of the James River, and Seized Sites for Batteries With Which to Bar the Water Route to Richmond.

On the sunny plain and the neighboring farms teeming with stock of all kinds. The heavy hand of war was already on the land, however. The villas and mansions of the inhabitants were deserted and uncared for; families were scattered, industries stopped and sources of income abandoned or destroyed. Thus while Gen. Butler was employing his talents as an organizer at Fort Monroe—often eating soft-shelled crabs and hogfish, no doubt—and planting guns at the mouth of the James, the sunny land of Tidewater Virginia was beginning to feel the blight from which would scarcely recover in a half-century of peace.

LAST THOUGHTS OF WIFE.

Husband Weeds Garden as Last Act Before Shooting Himself on Account of Ill-Health.

After wedding and grubbing in his garden until there was no immediate work that would be left for his wife to do, John Windmiller, 38 years of age, of No. 1138 East Thirty-eighth street, committed suicide yesterday by shooting himself through the right temple with a 22-caliber rifle.

The gun was one he kept to kill birds, which molested his vegetable garden. Windmiller had propped it against the fence, while he performed his work. Poor health is believed to have been the cause of the act. He was suffering from an incurable disease and had become despondent.

Mrs. Caroline Ricketts.

A wealthy septuagenarian whose large estate is the storm center of neighborhood troubles that have already reached the Superior Court on two different counts. Mrs. Ricketts says her daughter is trying to get possession of the property. The daughter says the same of Mrs. Ricketts's friends.

RICKETTS ESTATE FIGHT.

to get me to show her my will. I refused. I wrote the will in sound mind and in such manner that each of my four children shall share alike in my fortune, for I love them all alike. Lillian is very pretty and talks sweetly but I am ashamed of her behavior.

"Mr. Jergins is my best friend. Why should he want to get my money? I don't think any of them would be able to fairly divide it either physically or mentally incapable of taking care of myself."

Mrs. B. M. Storms, a neighbor of Mrs. Caroline Ricketts and her daughter in Garvanza, says that, when the occupants of the automobile invaded the Jergins home to enter the car with them, hoping to secure from him information regarding Mrs. Ricketts.

It is alleged that Eakins drew a revolver from his pocket, laid it down on the seat and tried to compel the negro to make accusations against the Jergins family in regard to the treatment received by Mrs. Ricketts in the home. It appears, however, that the negro refused to comply with the demand.

ALLIGES GUN PLAY.

Mrs. Storms says that, ten days ago, Miss Ricketts and Eakins went in an automobile to the home of Jergins to get Mrs. Ricketts to go back to her daughter. Mrs. Ricketts had gone for a walk, but she claims that the occupants of the automobile inveigled the Jergins cook at the Jergins home to enter the car with them, hoping to secure from him information regarding Mrs. Ricketts.

MEANDERING MARJORIE.

She's Picked Up by Woman and Sold to Friend, Who Refuses to Give Her to Owner.

A sleek Angora Tabitha named Marjorie, who has a pedigree as good as a feline and possesses the wandering tendency peculiar alike to aristocratic and plebeian cats, is a center of gossip and speculation out on Fifty-ninth street. Until last February she was in the possession of A. C. Anderson, who lives at No. 1426 East Sixtieth street.

About Valentine's Day she wandered away. Nothing was seen of her until this week, when Anderson heard that she was in the possession of Mrs. Robert McElroy at No. 1335 East Fifty-ninth street. Anderson took immediate steps to recover his pet. Mrs. McElroy refused to give up the aristocratic feline.

She said she had bought the cat from a friend who had found her in the street. For two weeks this friend watched for advertisements in all the papers, but found none. The fact was divulged that Marjorie was soon to be sold, and that she had no prejudicial leanings toward the race suicide theory.

Mrs. McElroy finally said she would give Marjorie up in due time, but that the kittens must belong to her. Anderson demurred. He took the matter to Deputy Dist. Atty. Blair, who advised by telephone that Marjorie was lost property, and that Anderson's piousness, proving the cat's pedigree, is sufficient evidence of his ownership.

Anderson went to get his cat last night, but Mrs. McElroy refused to surrender the animal until she could consult her attorney. Further proceedings will go on today.

Marjorie is too tame to pass up lightly. Her forebears go back through a smart list of names.

IDEAL WORKSHOP HERE.

Woman Author Who Makes Her Home in Los Angeles, Has Third Novel in Publishers' Hands.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dejeane Budgett of Ocean View avenue, who has just returned from an extended visit in San Francisco, leaves today for a tour of the East. Her third novel will appear next fall, being published by Lippincott & Company of Philadelphia, publishers of "The Winning Chance" and "The Heart of Desire."

The name and locale of her new book is not yet announced, but it is a story of modern, up-to-date city life, and will be, it is said, of especial interest to western readers. In fact, it is quite likely that it will particularly interest Los Angeles people, although the author declines positively to admit this.

Mrs. Budgett does most of her work in this city which she declares is ideal as a literary workshop. She carries with her a lately completed novelette and the manuscript of a fourth novel upon which she is now working, as a result of a quiet winter in her home here.

Mrs. Budgett, as the daughter of an army officer, has resided in the Presidio, in the Orient, and has moved in army circles in most of the continental cities. She has also lived in England and passed much time on the continent. Her wide travel and social opportunities have given her a wide outlook and a large fund of experience which have not been lost upon a keenly observant mind.

THE TIMES MAGAZINE of the coming Sunday will be the thirtieth number, and will be an exceptionally good one.

DYNAMITE—GRAND JURY.

has been no discussion or intention of employing other than the regular legal force of the District Attorney's office to conduct the case.

INVESTIGATION CONTINUES.

It was expected that the grand jury investigating the attempt to dynamite the Hall of Records would complete its work yesterday, but owing to the many witnesses examined and the discovery of several new angles to the case, the jury will meet again Monday morning. That day its work will be concluded.

In the afternoon of the jury room a number of local labor bosses gathered early yesterday and waited uneasily. The fact that Connors and Parks have been positively shown to be actively connected with the unionites gave them uneasiness.

Maple, the heavy-faced unionite bully who has been before the grand jury as first in place of the mourner's bench. He was followed closely by Hendricks. The latter was plainly disturbed and decidedly uneasy. He furtively chewed his fingernails and mopped his forehead with his handkerchief, although the foyer was cool. Other unionites came and stood but these two were the only ones who had been directed to remain.

The first witness examined was Captain of Police Lehnhausen, who was reported to have found a piece of fuse in the cell occupied by Connors who was arrested at the time of the attempt on the Hall of Records. This fuse, from all accounts, tallied with the dynamite and piece of fuse found by Policeman Abel in the alley near the Hall of Records. Lehnhausen was closeted with the grand jury about twenty minutes, and when he emerged spoke to Chief of Police Sebastian.

EXPLOSIVE EXHIBIT.

"Now you can go in, Chief. I have fixed everything for your display." With this cryptic remark Lehnhausen left and Sebastian entered the jury room. He carried with him a bundle wrapped in an old newspaper. This contained the dynamite and fuse found at the Hall of Records by the police. After a half-hour Sebastian emerged without the bundle. He stated that it had been left with the jury as evidence. Policeman Abel was called and spent an hour before the jury telling of his encounter in the alley with Connors.

Probably the most significant incident of the morning's session of the grand jury was when Miss Hitchcock of Chief of Detectives Brown's office was called. Miss Hitchcock had been waiting patiently for an hour or more. She was called to the door, and after a moment's conversation with the clerk of the jury, handed over five warrants. The clerk took them and closed the door. Shortly afterward Miss Hitchcock was called into the room for a few minutes.

Formerly, it was found dynamite in the Hall of Records, was summoned as soon as the grand jury the occupants of the automobile followed by Hendricks, who had been uneasily waiting throughout the trial, taking up the greater portion of the afternoon.

TRACING SOMETHING.

A new feature to the case came up when Postmaster Harrison entered the jury room, followed by an attaché case containing a number of records of record books. Harrison, before entering the room and being sworn to secrecy, stated that he did not know why he had been asked to appear, but thought that some letter was being traced. He was in the room about twenty minutes.

Yesterday morning, on information believed to have been obtained by Brown's detective, a squad of men went to the house formerly occupied by Mrs. Ella R. Musgrave, No. 843 East Sixth street, and dug up the entire back yard in search of dynamite. It is stated that they found nothing.

B. N. Nockels, an attorney of Chicago, who is connected with the unions, was with John J. McNamara shortly following the conference held by Darrow with the McNamara brothers.

ANOTHER APARTMENT HOTEL.

Handsome Reinforced Concrete Metropolitan Structure to be Erected at Grand avenue and Seventeenth.

A five-story reinforced concrete apartment hotel of the best metropolitan type will be started within a few days by W. F. Young, president of the Young Construction Company, at the northwest corner of Grand avenue and Seventeenth street. Plans are nearly completed in the offices of Architects R. B. Young & Son.

The building, which will cost approximately $200,000, will have a frontage of sixty-two feet on Grand avenue and a depth of 135 feet, with a wing at the rear, 60x15 feet in area. It will contain 147 rooms, divided into sixty suites, each with a private bath. Electric passenger and freight elevator service will be installed.

The exterior of the structure will be faced with terra cotta and pressed brick, and the large lobby will be ornately decorated in marble. When completed the building will be one of the handsomest of its kind in the city. It will be the third strictly fireproof apartment hotel in Los Angeles.

OLD soldiers will be especially interested in The Times Magazine of the coming Sunday.
